

Oratorio at Festival Hall.

Haydn's oratorio, "The Creation," was given on Monday night at Festival Hall by the Dubuque Choral Club of Dubuque, Ia. The club has a chorus of 100 voices. The chorus was under the direction of William H. Contius. Charles Gallo-way, official organist of the World's Fair, accompanied at the organ, and the Exposition Orchestra furnished the other accompaniments. The soloists were Helen Buckley, soprano; John Miller, tenor, and Marion Green, bass.
