Glasses Up, With a Shout . . . Paul Bliss

THE APOLLO CLUB

Glasses up with a shout—aha!

All the dry, dusty bones of the hopes of the past
Fling away, fling away!

To the chance of tomorrow it may be the last—
Drink today, drink today!

Away with all sorrow, away with the cares!

May pleasure alone deck us out in gray hairs!
Glasses up with a shout—aha!

Glasses up with a shout—aha!

If our pockets are empty 'twill help to forget—
Come away, come away!

Drink deep to old Bacchus, to him be our debt—
Drink today, drink today!

Then clouds will be sunshine, the rain become dew
And the world will be laughing with me and with you!

Glasses up with a shout—aha!

Glasses up with a sigh—heigho!

For there's one comrade missing, but drink him a toast—
To your feet; drink it deep!

Though we're all of us careless, let none of us boast—
As we drink, glasses clink—

We may live forever; we may die to-night;

But we'll drink and keep drinking till tankards are light.
Glasses up with a shout—aha!

- (a) The Alpine Fay . . . Ed. Kremser
(b) Morning in the Dewy Wood . F. Hegar

THE APOLLO CLUB

Hark! what a mournful sound,
From the rocks around,
Comes thro' the breezy vale,
Like a breath of joy and wail.
The hunter mourns today
The lovely Alpine Fay. Ah!
Like an angel pure and bright,
Came she to him in the night,
In a dream they joyful greet,
But day dispell'd the vision sweet.
Oh Alpine Fay, lovely Alpine Fay.
Ah————

Silent his love forlorn,
Only by his horn
Tells he his yearning pain,
As it echoing cries again:
Oh, why art thou away,
Thou lovely Alpine Fay? Ah!
So his faithful echoing horn,
Wailing o'er th' rocks is borne,
And the hunter's woe
Sounds o'er th' eternal snow.
O Alpine Fay, lovely Alpine Fay.
Ah————

MORNING IN THE DEWY WOOD

A thrush is calling in the dewy wood,
From ev'ry bough the dreamy pearls are pending,
In morning air the treetops lightly bending,
With blended song the gleaming twilight flood—
With blended song they flood the wood.

And softly hears of Love the angels winging,
While o'er the balmy wood the spell yet lies,
And flowers tremble cool 'neath morning skies,
They tremble cool 'neath morning skies.

Awake! awake, O Shining Sun;

O joyful, joyful singing.

A bouyant song awakes the dewy wood,—
There sang a heart in golden bloom of May,—
Of love it sang in soaring melody,—
There sang a heart of love the lay.

Of love it sang in the wood,
A heart was calling in the dewy wood.

War Song

THE APOLLO CLUB

Onward tramp, steadily onward tramp,
Resolute warriors, pledged to Freedom's call,
Onward tramp, e'en to the Vale of Death,
Sturdily marching on, through all.

Right is might, stronger than life;
All foresworn foes, their cause shall rue,
So onward tramp, sturdy to victory;
Resolute heroes all, and true.

What has been sown must e'er be reaped;
War calls the world to Conscience's voice;
Though blood may flow and lov'd ones weep,
Still shall the nation's heart rejoice.

Hold firm aloft the glorious flag
And bend the foe to Honor's sway;
Onward, steadily onward tramp;
Verily Truth doth lead the way.

World Thou Art Mine! . . . Franz Curti

THE APOLLO CLUB

World, thou art mine! World, thou art mine!
Mine are fields and forest mazes,
Mine the sky of blue benign;
Therefore I will sing their Maker's praises.
World, thou art mine!

World, thou art mine! World, thou art mine!
Morning sunlight greets me yonder,
All day long on me 'twill shine,
All is gladness where I wander.

World, thou art mine! World, thou art mine!
Roses on my way are blowing;
Joyful birds in song I join,
Gladly, with a heart o'erflowing.
World, thou art mine!
