The Cavalier's Song - - - Reinald Werrenrath

THE APOLLO CLUB

A steed! a steed of matchless speed,
A sword of metal keene!
All else to noble heartes is drosse,
All else on earth is meane.

The neighynge of the war-horse proude,
The rowlynge of the drum,
The clangor of the trumpet lowde,
Be soundes from heav'n that come;
And oh! the thund'ring presse of knightes,
When as their war cryes swell
May tole from heav'n an angel bright
And rouse a fiend from hell.

Then mounte! then mounte, brave gallants all,
And don your helmes a-maine:
Deathe's curriers, fame and honor, call
Us to the field againe.

No shrewish teares shall fill our eye
When the sword-hilt's in our hands,
Heart-whole we'll part, and no whit sighe
For the fairest of the land;
Let piping swaine and craven wight
Thus weepe and puling crye;
Our business is like men to fight,
And hero-like to die.

Serenade

Sweet as blossom's dreams are in Springtime bright,
Be thine, my fair one, be thine to-night.
Dark are earth and sky above,
But all the brighter is my love;
Brighter than all the stars could be:
Dream thou, oh fair one, dream thou of me.

Mild as now the moonlight thro' clouds doth beam,
So may my image weave thro' thy dream.
Earth and sky are blended quite
As dream and life in one unite;
So shall our lives united be.
Dream thou, oh fair one, dream thou of me.

Soft as fragrance sweet thro' the night is shed,
So angels hover about thy head.
Slumber while they vigil keep,
Sweet thy slumber be and deep;
Until daylight gently doth shine on thee:
Dream thou, oh fair one, dream thou of me.

Invictus

Out of the night that covers me,
Black as the pit from pole to pole,
I thank whatever gods may be,
For my unconquerable soul.

In the clutch of circumstance
I have not winced nor cried aloud;
Under the bludgeonings of chance,
My head is bloody, but unbowed.

Beyond this place of wrath and tears
Looms but the Horror of the shade,
And yet the menace of the years
Finds, and shall find, me unafraid.

It matters not how strait the gate,
How charged with punishment the scroll,
I am the master of my fate,
I am the captain of my soul.

John Peel

- - - - -

Mark Andrews

THE APOLLO CLUB

Tan-ta-ra, tan-ta-ra, tan-ta-ra, ta-ra,
Do ye ken John Peel with his coat so gay,
Do ye ken John Peel at the break of day?
Do ye ken John Peel, when he's far, far away,
With his hounds and his horse, in the morning?
For the sound of his horn brought me from my bed.
Tan-ta-ra, tan-ta-ra,
And the cry of his hounds, which he oft-times led.
Peel's "view-hal-lo!" would waken the dead,
Or the fox from his lair, in the morning.

Yes, I ken John Peel, and Ruby too,
Ranter and Ringwood, Bellman and True,
From a "find" to a "check," from a "check" to a "view,"
From a "view" to a "death" in the morning.
For the sound of his horn brought me from my bed.
Tan-ta-ra, tan-ta-ra,
And the cry of his hounds, which he oft-times led.
Peel's "view-hal-lo!" would waken the dead,
Or the fox from his lair, in the morning.

Do ye ken John Peel, wi' his coat so gay?
He lived at Troutbeck once on a day,
But now he's gone far, far away.
We shall ne'er hear his horn in the morning,
But the sound of his horn brought me from my bed.
Tan-ta-ra, tan-ta-ra,
And the cry of his hounds, which he oft-times led.
Peel's "view-hal-lo!" would waken the dead,
Or the fox from his lair, in the morning.

Believe Me, If All Those Endearing Young Charms,
- - - - - John Hyatt Brewer

THE APOLLO CLUB

Believe me, if all those endearing young charms,
Which I gaze on so fondly to-day;
Were to change by to-morrow, and fleet from my arms,
Like fairy gifts fading away,
Thou wouldst still be adored, as this moment thou art,
Let thy loveliness fade as it will,
And around the dear ruin each wish of my heart
Would entwine itself verdantly still.

It is not while beauty and youth are thine own,
And thy cheeks unprofaned with a tear,
That the fervor and faith of a soul can be known,
To which time will but make thee more dear;
No, the heart that truly loved never forgets,
But as truly loves on to the close,
As the sunflower turns on her god when he sets,
The same look which she turn'd when he rose.
