Awake, My Lady Sweetlips - - - H. W. Parker

I

AWAKE, MY LADY SWEETLIPS.

Awake, my Lady Sweetlips,
The moon draws to the sea,
The dew draws to the clover bloom,
And I to thee.

The sea will waken to the moon,
The clover to the bee,
Awake, my Lady Sweetlips,
Awake to me.

Awake, my Lady Sweetlips,
The nightingale has ceased.
The pale, pale petals of the dawn
Drift up the East.
My heart aches with the ravishment
Of love's sweet ecstasy,
Awake, my Lady Sweetlips,
Awake to me.

Awake, my Lady Sweetlips,
The soft hours tremble by,
Too soon the red rose of the dawn
Burns in the sky.
The lark arises to the dawn,
Singing from off the lea,
Awake, my Lady Sweetlips,
Awake to me.

IN A CASTLE.

Waiting in his craggy tower
Sits the knight in slumber buried;
O'er him shift the storm and shower,
Round him sougths the forest serried.
Growth of beard no measure gauges;
Breast and frill are turn'd to stone;
He has waited many ages
In his cloister there alone.

Round about 'tis calm and lonely;
All have hastened down the valley;
Through the empty windows only
Wood-birds, singing, dart and dally.
Far below a wedding proudly
On the stream in sunshine sweepeth;
Hark, the band is playing loudly,
But the lovely bride she weepeth!

---

ROBIN ADAIR.

What's this dull town to me?
Robin's not near;
What was't I wished to see,
What wished to hear?
Where's all the joy and mirth,
Made this town a heav'n on earth?
Ah! They're all fled with thee,
Robin Adair.

What made th' Assembly shine?
Robin Adair.
What made the ball so fine?
Robin was there!
What, when the play was o'er,
What made my heart so sore?
Ah, it was parting with
Robin Adair.

But now thou'rt cold to me,
Robin Adair;
But now thou'rt cold to me,
Robin Adair.
Yet him I loved so well,
Still in my heart shall dwell,
Ah! I can ne'er forget
Robin Adair.

The King and The Singer - - - Nevin

THE APOLLO CLUB

THE KING AND THE SINGER.

Away in the old cathedral two coffins stand alone,
In one of them sleeps King Ottmar and the singer rests in one;

The King sat once in power, high thron'd in his father's land,
The crown still graces his temples, the falchion his Kingly hand.

But near the proud King the singer is peacefully sleeping on,
In his lifeless hand still clasping the harp of the tender tone.
The castles around are falling, the war-cry rings through the land,

The sword it stir-eth never, here in the dead King's hand.
Blossoms and vernal breezes are floating the vale along.
And the singer's harp is sounding in never-dying song.

Home, Dear To Me - - - - - J. Pache

THE APOLLO CLUB

HOME, DEAR TO ME.

Away now I wander at early dawn,
    Away from my humble home;
The grass is wet, the fields wave with corn,
    Away o'er the world I roam.
Home that I love, home dear to me,
Where'er I wander I'll think of thee.

Though love of adventure now fills the heart,
    Yet with regret and with pain
From friends of childhood and youth I part,
    Who knows will we meet again!
Home that I love, home dear to me,
Where'er I wander I'll think of thee.

And though I may wander in South or North,
    And castles so grand I see,
Still longing for home will e'er drive me forth,
    Until in its walls I shall be.
Home that I love, home dear to me,
Where'er I wander I'll think of thee.
