It Was a Lover and His Lass - James P. Dunn

THE MORNING CHORAL CLUB

It was a lover and his lass,
With a hey and a ho, and a hey nonino!
That o'er the green corn-field did pass,
In the spring-time, the only pretty ring-time,
When birds do sing, hey ding-a-ding;
Sweet lovers love the spring.

Between the acres of the rye,
These pretty country folks would lie;
This carol they began that hour,
How that life was but a flower;
And therefore take the present time,
With a hey and a ho, and a hey non-i-no.

For love is crowned with the prine,
In spring-time, in spring-time,
The only pretty ring-time,
When birds do sing, hey ding-a-ding;
Sweet lovers love the spring.

THE MORNING CHORAL CLUB

("a" and "b" will be sung a capella)

- (a) They're sleeping beneath the roses;
Oh, kiss them before they rise,
And tickle their tiny noses,
And sprinkle the dew on their eyes.
The fairies are caught; make haste.

We'll put them in silver cages
And send them full-drest to court,
And maids of honour and pages
Shall turn the poor things to sport.
Be quicker than thought; be quick.

Their scarfs shall be pennons for lancers,
We'll tie up our flowers with their curls,
Their plumes will make fans for dancers,
Their tears shall be set with pearls.
Be wise—make the most of the prize.

They'll scatter sweet scents by winking,
With sparks from under their feet;
They'll save us the trouble of thinking,
Their voices will sound so sweet.
They're up and away—Oh, stay!

William Cory.

- (b) Three fishers went sailing away to the West,
Away to the West as the sun went down;
Each thought on the woman who loved him the best,
And the children stood watching them out of the town;
For men must work, and women must weep,
And there's little to earn, and many to keep,
Though the harbour bar be moaning.

Three wives sat up in the lighthouse tower,
And they trimmed the lamps as the sun went down;
They looked at the squall, and they looked at the shower,
And the night-rack came rolling up ragged and brown.
But men must work, and women must weep,
Though storms be sudden, and waters deep,
And the harbour bar be moaning.

Three corpses lay out on the shining sands,
In the morning gleam as the tide went down,
And the women are weeping and wringing their hands
For those who will never come home to the town;
For men must work, and women must weep,
And the sooner it's over, the sooner to sleep;
And good-bye to the bar and its moaning.

Charles Kingsley.

(c) Way down upon the Swanee ribber, far, far away,
Dere's wha my heart is turning ebber, dere's where de old folks stay.
All up and down de whole creation, sadly I roam,
Still longing for de old plantation and for de old folks at home.
All de world am sad and dreary, ebry where I roam,
Oh darkies, how my heart grows weary, far from de old folks
at home.

All round de little farm I wandered, when I was young,
Den many happy hours I squandered, many de songs I sung.
When I was playing wid my brudder, happy was I.
Ah, take me to my kind old mudder, dere let me live and die.
All de world am sad and dreary, ebry where I roam,
Oh darkies, how my heart grows weary, far from de old folks
at home.

One little hut among de bushes, one dat I love,
Still sadly to my memory rushes, no matter wha I rove.
When will I see de bees a humming all round de comb,
When will I hear de banjo strumming, down in my good old
home?
All de world am sad and dreary, ebry where I roam,
Oh darkies, how my heart grows weary, far from de old folks
at home.

Tinker, Tailor - - - - - Cecil Forsyth

THE PROLOGUE

Ladies! a true love tale we sing to you,
Pink-perfect as a coral.
First we'll provide you with the quaintest facts,
And then we'll point the moral.

THE BALLAD

When Molly O'Keefe was just thirteen
And asleep in the moonlight clear,
Dan Cupid stood at the foot of her bed,
And he said to her: "Molly, my dear,
Ev'ry girl when she grows up
Must marry a man or two,
The only question is: Who's the man
For a pretty little girl like you?
When you grow up you'll have to choose
(My regular list is brief)
From a tinker, tailor, soldier, sailor,
Ploughboy, 'pothecary, thief."

"You can keep that gang," said Molly,
"They're not for a well-bred girl.
I mean to marry a prince or a duke,
Or at any rate a belted earl.
Pray, what has it got to do with you?
No chance with Molly O'Keefe
Has a tinker, tailor, soldier, sailor,
Ploughboy, 'pothecary, thief."

Dan Cupid frowned. Ten thousand years
He'd been caressed and courted;
And now he found his well-laid schemes
Contemptuously thwarted.
He drew his bow. With blazing eyes
His stern decree he told her:
"By this arrow shot, you shall marry the lot
Before you are ten years older."

Now nine years later Ben McGrew
Was pretty well on in life,
The exact amount of his bank account
Was a billion. He'd no wife.
He had tried to make good at various trades,
And at all of them come to grief,
As a tinker, tailor, soldier, sailor,
Ploughboy, 'pothecary, thief.

But for nine years past he had "plunged" in oil,
And all his investing folly,
However stupid, was blessed by Cupid,
Who wanted to get square with Molly.
So here he was with a billion cold
And a heart warm past belief,
Ex-tinker, tailor, soldier, sailor,
Ploughboy, 'pothecary, thief.

And when, Molly, twenty-two years old,
Set eyes on Ben McGrew,
She said, "My saint! My hero!
My dreams are coming true!"
And such was her simple girlish charm
And her innocence of men,
That in three months' time she had pulled it off,
And was signing "Mrs. Ben."

He bought up ten country places,
A ruby mine for his queen,
Three yachts, a dozen motor cars,
A diamond soup tureen.
And with these and him she lived sensibly,
Without splurge or profusion or waste;
Her motto was, "All of the best,
But quiet and in good taste."

Then praise to dear Dan Cupid!
 Dan Cupid, ever young!
 He holds his sway, from day to day,
 All happy hearts among.
 And on this bright occasion
 He triumphed speciallee;
 For he sat on a cloud and he laughed aloud,
 And he said to himself, said he,
 "My shooting ne'er was better
 (Bad shots are indeed a grief)
 Than the day I drew on Ben McGrew
 And I drew on Molly O'Keefe.
 And I'd stake my wings and my team of doves
 That Molly'll never know,
 When I saw her dream in the moonlight,
 'Twas a shrapnel-shot from my bow
 Struck her; and then, in bouncing back,
 The arrow from my sheaf
 Bagged a tinker, tailor, soldier, sailor,
 Ploughboý, 'pothecary, thief."

THE EPILOGUE

Ladies! the moral of our simple tale
 Will close attention bear:
 Dan Cupid gilds the tinker's lowly life,
 And turns him billionaire."

MRS. H. M. E. PASMEZOGLU and MRS. KATHARINE COWAN

Come! Come! Lovely youth, come, I'll be thy flower!
Sweetly dancing, gliding, bliss unshadowed I'll shower.
The garden's pride and odor we've given;
In springtime we were riven.
We're here again, in sunlight and shower,
To bloom for thee, happy comer.
Oh, be but kind and true!
And grudge not the flowers their due!
If thou wilt not love us and cherish,
We quickly must wither and perish.
Come! Come! Lovely youth, I'll be thy flower, come hither!
No, I am the fairest, I claim thee forever, come hither!
Come! Come! Lovely youth, come, I'll be thy flower!
Sweetly dancing, gliding, bliss unshadowed I'll shower.
