Offertory Anthem: "THE RESURRECTION".....Shelley

In slumber lay the brooding world Upon that glorious night,
The sky above in beauty shone With heav'nly, holy light. The deed was done! The trial o'er! The agony and shame had passed away, for Heav'n did now Its buried King reclaim. O Glorious Night!
Let Heav'n's vaulted arches ring! O Wonderful Night! all glory to the King. In vain they kept the midnight watch Before that silent tomb. In vain the Marys sought their Lord In early morning gloom.
The time has come, the work is done! The cruel conflict o'er, The cross, the thorns, the stinging scourge Are known to Him no more.
O Glorious night! Christ is come to reign above: Christ, the King, the Lord of Love. While still the guarding sentry slept, Upon that glorious night, Down from the heav'ns in countless throngs Came angels clothed in white. With them they bore a crown of gold To grace that kingly head. The stone rolled back! The Lord of life Is ris'n from the dead. O Glorious night! Let Heav'n's vaulted arches ring — O Wonderful Night! Glory to the risen King. Christ is come to reign above, Christ the King, the Lord of love, Let myriad angel choirs their hallelujahs sing.

ST. PETER'S CHURCH SERVICE LEAGUE meets Tuesday, April 21st, at 10:00 a. m. There is work for all. Do come.

After the Children's Service and before sunset on Easter Day, your flowers which decorated the Altar and Chancel so beautifully, were taken to fifty-two individuals — those who were either shut in, those who had sorrow to bear since last Easter, or those who were sick. The Rector desires to have you know that this sweet thoughtfulness on your part was greatly appreciated by the recipients.

The Service on Easter Even was very lovely — the children with the flowers in God's House were a very pleasing decoration. The Rector baptized the following:

Stanley Sherman Burns, Jr.

Patricia Ellen Gordon

Edith Swift Jenkin

Curtis Mostyn Swift

Hampden Mephan Swift

John Staples Swift, Jr.

Grace Elizabeth Taylor

Thomas Wilfrid Taylor, Jr.
