PART ONE

To Arms - - - - - J. H. Maunder

THE APOLLO CLUB

I

There's a bugle call in the East,
Ready, my lads, steady, my lads;
'Tis no time for frolic or feast,
Ready, my lads; steady, my lads—
Face the foe with courage strong,
Yours the part to right the wrong,
Prayer in your heart, from your lips a song.

II

Face the foe, with courage strong,
Yours the part to right the wrong;
Then to arms, O staunch and true,
Hark, the bugle's calling you!

III

Do you linger 'till tears have ceased?
She who loves you will hinder least;
Hands that cling and hearts that break,
Give their dearest for honor's sake.

—Pass Recitative—Jos. H. Kelly.

Chant of the Volga Boatmen

I

On the Volga, cold, gray Volga,
Pull the boat along,
Chant the exiles' song
Aching, breaking, pawns for others' wrong.

II

On, on, the fateful waters flow,
On, on, forever we must go,
Tramping thru sand, chained hand to hand,
Grinding and binding in heavy iron bands.

III

Pull, the gale is bleak and black,
No man can stand its mad attack,
Gasping for breath, chanting till death,
Wailing, weary, dragging thru the wrack.

When I Know What You Know

I

When I know what you know,
And you know what I know,
Then I know what you know,
And you know what I know.

II

Then I know what you know,
And you know what I know,
And you know, and he knows,
And she knows, what I know.

INTERMISSION OF TEN MINUTES—The beginning of Part Second will be indicated in the Foyer by a brief extinction of the electric light.

- (a) The Carnovale - - - - - Rossini-Huhn
(b) Farewell - - - - - E. Cutter, Jr.

THE APOLLO CLUB
Piano—Mr. Paul Friess

The Carnovale

We are beggars, struck with blindness
Living on the rich man's kindness
On a day of joy and feasting
To the poor, oh, please to give.
Pretty maidens, wives and matrons,
Ope' your purses, be our patrons;
As we blind can't see your beauty,
Let us know your hearts are kind.
We are merry beggars singing,
Gaily money boxes ringing;
Listen to our pleasant ditty, with do, re, mi, fa, sol, la,
All we sing is, please to give.
We know good manners tho' we be blind beggars all,
We thank you heartily for gifts however small,
Come show your charity, kind lads and lasses,
Let each bestow a trifle as he passes.

Farewell

The crimson sunset faded into gray,
Above the murm'rous sea the twilight fell;
The last warm breath of the delicious day
Pass'd with a mute farewell.
Above my head, in the dull purple sky,
A wild note sounded like a shrill-voiced bell;
Three gulls met, wheel'd, and parted with a cry,
That seem'd to say, that seem'd to say, farewell!
Farewell! I thought, it is the earth's one speech,
All human voices the sad chorus swell,
Tho' mighty love to heav'ns high gate may reach,
Yet must he say farewell!
Farewell, farewell, from wave to wave 'tis tossed,
From wind to wind; earth has one tale to tell;
All other sounds are dulled and drowned and lost
In this one cry, in this one cry, farewell!
