Organist Galloway Here.

Mr. Charles Galloway, the young organist who left St. Louis some years ago to study under Guilmant in Paris, and later under other world-famed organ masters in Europe, has come to St. Louis to visit relatives. This is the first visit Mr. Galloway has made to his native city since his superb success at the grand concert in which he took Paris by storm, about 18 months ago.

For the past three years he has been organist at the American Episcopal Church in Paris, and since the concert the whole of the European musical world has recognized, praised and lionized him. Mr. Galloway says he will remain in St. Louis a few weeks and that his stay may be permanent.
