
GALLOWAY ORGAN RECITAL.

Interesting Programme Being Prepared for Monday Evening, April 2.

Prof. Charles Galloway, the organist, is preparing an interesting programme for the recital to be given Monday evening, April 2, at Pilgrim Congregational Church, Ewing and Washington avenues, for the benefit of Hope Congregational Church. The programme will be the best that Prof. Galloway has yet given. In addition to the organ numbers there will be solos by Miss Agnes Petring, soprano, and Miss Rosalie Wirthlin, contralto.

Admission to the recital will be free, and it is hoped to fill the large auditorium of Pilgrim Church. A collection will be taken up, the proceeds to be used in repairing and refitting Hope Congregational Church. Years ago when Prof. Galloway first began to play he was the organist in a little Sunday-school out in the West End, from which Hope Congregational Church developed, and he is much interested in the work being done there.
