

ORGAN DEDICATION THURSDAY.

Elaborate Program for the Great Festival Hall Instrument.

The great Fair organ, the largest ever built in the world, will be dedicated Thursday morning in Festival hall by Charles Galloway, the official organist of Charles Galloway, the official organist of much musical interest has been prepared by Mr. Galloway, and the dedication will undoubtedly be one of the greatest musical affairs ever given.

The organ is composed of two departments, the manual and pedal. The manual department is controlled by five keyboards of 61 keys each, each board commanding a separate tonal division of the organ. The second, or choir organ, contains 20 stops of every quality and strength of tone. The third, or swell organ, contains 34 stops and 2867 pipes. In the 34 stops there are 17,179,869,183 distinct tonal and expressive combinations which may be effected.

The massive organ is supplied with 36 couplers, by which the five manuals are coupled to the pedal organ. By this means the five manuals are connected in 28 different relations. There is also an adjustable combination system, commanded by 46 push buttons and there are 10 pedal movements, controlling the instrument.
