A large and fashionable audience thoroughly enjoyed the excellent concert given by the Young Women's Christian Association of Washington University, in Graham Memorial Chapel, Thursday afternoon, the affair proving a most brilliant success. The work of the assisting artists was such as to command the highest admiration.

Mr. Charles Galloway presided at the organ, opening the programme with Hollins' "Concerto Overture in C Minor," which prepared the audience for the musical delights of the afternoon.

A contralto solo, entitled "A Ballad of Trees and the Master," was given by Mrs. James T. Quarles. Mrs. George A. Dobyne sang a soprano solo, "The Lord Is My Light," after which Mr. Galloway gave two organ selections: Guilmant's "Scherzo in C Minor," and Lamare's "Song Without Words."

Mrs. Quarles' second number was from Handel's Messiah, "He Was Despised." The concert was closed by Mr. Chas. A. Cale, with two compositions on the violin, Bohn's "Cavatina," and Mlinarski's "Mazurka in G."

Generous encores were responded to.
