

make him rich.

Mrs. Lauterbach said yesterday that her husband is jealous of her and on one occasion upbraided her when her cousin's husband placed his hand on her shoulder. He became angry when she laughed and joked with several of their friends on their return from a party, the wife also asserts.

"I was surprised when I heard that my husband had filed suit," Mrs. Lauterbach told reporters. "I met him last Tuesday and he said that he was willing to make up with me."

The Lauterbachs have been married a year and seven months. They lived at 2711 North Twelfth street.

HYLAND RITES MONDAY

Charles Galloway and Charles Kunkel to Officiate at Services at Longfellow Boulevard.

Charles Galloway and Charles Kunkel, prominent organists of the West, have been chosen to officiate tomorrow at the funeral services of Mrs. Thomas M. Hyland, who will be buried from the family residence at 3134

Longfellow boulevard at 2:30 o'clock. The vocal quartette numbers will be under the direction of Adam Black-Halt, while the quintette selections will be supervised by Carl Thall.

The Very Rev. William Randall and William Dames will officiate. The pallbearers will be Messrs. Frank A. Ruf, Cyrus F. Blanke, William Schranfstadter, Dr. Ernest H. Cole and George Miltenberger, all of whom are prominent in both business and social circles of the city.

WED AND PAID BOARD

Mrs. Ray Pierce Alleges Husband Didn't Care About Providing for Wife.

A few months after her marriage in 1907, Mrs. Ray Pierce was forced to obtain a position as a saleslady in order to pay her board, she alleges in a divorce suit filed yesterday. She sought the petition by order of her husband who told her that she would have to earn her own living, the wife asserts.

Mrs. Pierce was married in St. Charles, Mo. Her husband is a non-resident.