

MUSIC GALORE

Sixth Annual Festival Will Begin Tomorrow

AT GLENWOOD PARK

Celebrated Organist Will Perform—
Grand Chorus Recital Thursday
Evening With 500 Voices—Artists'
Concert in the Afternoon.

The sixth annual music festival of the Arkansas Music Teachers' Association will commence tomorrow morning with a business meeting at 9:30 a. m. at Glenwood Park, where several papers on important musical subjects will be read by Profs. F. D. Baars, Wilibald Lehmann and others. This will be an official meeting of the association, and all members are requested to be present. The public is also invited.

The organ concert will take place at the First M. E. Church, South. The programme for this recital has been carefully prepared, and will more than please all lovers of good music. The numbers on the programme for this concert will consist of organ solos by Mr. Charles Galloway, the great organ soloist, who studied under the great French master of the pipe organ, M. Guilman. Mr. Galloway is an artist of the first rank, having won a well-deserved reputation on both continents, and though a young man, has reached the top of his profession. His execution on the organ is imposing and brilliant, having a commendable mastery over his instrument that is equaled by few, showing an adequate regard for temperament and possessing an artistic understanding of tone contrast. The following choruses will be sung at this concert:

1. Crossing the Bar...Dudley Buck
2. Unfold Ye Portals (From the Redemption) Gounod

These choruses are in charge of Mrs. De E. Bradshaw, the organist of this church, and will be directed by Prof. Lehmann. In attending this concert you are requested to purchase tickets before arriving at church, and go early to avoid the crowd, as there is sure to be a rush.

The concert tomorrow night at 8:30 o'clock at Glenwood Park will consist of choruses, trios, duets and solos on all instruments by the very best talent in the state and obtainable from abroad.

The executive committee are requested to be at the park at 11 o'clock a. m.

The Musical Coterie of this city will entertain the Music Teachers' Association at Glenwood Park Thursday afternoon after the close of the artists' concert. This will be an event in itself. All members of the association are requested to be present.

The artists' concert at Glenwood Park Thursday 3 p. m. and the grand chorus recital at same place at 8 p. m. will be especially fine. Five hundred voices will be heard in the grand chorus under the direction of Professors Lehmann and Keller. The choruses will be accompanied by the festival orchestra composed of young ladies and gentlemen of this city under the direction of Professor Armellini.
